School Board Voices Its Approval of Emergency Classes

A total of 127 additional students were in Salem public schools today above the opening enrollment on Sept. 9 of 2,505 pupils, Supt. Earl S. Kerr announced during the regular meeting of the board of education Monday night at the high school.

Students at the high school totaled 825 today over the opening roster of 825. The junior high school had an enrollment of 423 today over the earlier figure of 423, the school head said.

Classes of 236 pupils were listed at Columbia st. school today, a gain of 12 pupils; Fourth st. school listed 135 students, a gain of 25; McKinley school boasted 276, a gain of 14; Prospect school 213, a gain of 12; and Reilly school 248, a gain of 16.

Replaces Miss Krauss

The board announced that Miss Janice Satterthwaite would substitute for Miss Martha Krauss as music supervisor for Salem public schools.

Miss Krauss is recovering in the Cleveland Clinic from a serious illness and Mr. Kerr told board members that doctors informed him that Miss Krauss would be out of school for an extended period.

The board voiced its approval of the emergency school classes now in progress nightly at the high school, which Supt. Kerr said, are being well attended.

The superintendent announced the WPA electric lighting project at Fourth st. school is about three-fourths complete and the WPA painting job in the high school will be finished this week, with the exception of the auditorium, which may require outside assistance. The cleaning of the senior high school has been completed and workers now have taken their equipment to Fourth st. school, Mr. Kerr announced.

George F. Koontz, clerk of the board, announced the report of his audit of records and books of accounts of the high school funds, setting forth the financial condition of school treasuries.

Victims In Wyoming Plane Crash

Twelve persons were killed when a transcontinental passenger plane crashed near Cheyenne, Wyo. Motor trouble apparently sent the air liner hurtling down to earth, demolishing the ship and mangle the victims, two of whom are shown, John F. Cushing, Chicago, president of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Co., and Miss Juliet Hillman, Pittsburgh society girl.

HOUSE IS SET TO RECONVENE

State Representatives To Act On Building and Milk Measures

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 8.—State representatives returned to Columbus today to go to work on Governor Davey's public building program, his request for consideration of a new milk marketing act, and possibly the embattled budget.

The house finance committee, looking forward to 1936 tax problems, considered meanwhile its chairman's estimate that only $3,000,000 in additional revenue would be needed to finance the foundation school program.

Rep. P. E. Ward (R., Geauga) asserted that favorable delinquent tax collections had reduced the need to that figure from $6,000,000 originally estimated.

The house prepared to act on Governor Davey's public building program when it reconvenes in the present special session this afternoon. A bill to enact it authorizes a $3,000,000 appropriation of state funds to match $2,450,000 in federal funds if and when granted.

Governor Davey asked the legislators to consider a revised milk control bill, presumably one worked out by an informal house committee headed by Rep. John Q. Carey (D., Lucas). Because of the automatic expiration of the Burk milk marketing law July 1, Davey said, the milk producer's market is in a "chaotic" condition.

The house finance committee agreed reduction or complete abolition of the 3.25 mills mandated local school levy might be advisable to free tax millage for general operating expenses of local political subdivisions.

Rep. Ward has called financing of local subvisions one of the greatest problems facing the legislature.

Books, Food, Other Help Offered To Needy Students

Free text books, clothing, school lunches, transportation and even funds toward doctor or dental bills have been offered to local and county boys and girls who are staying away from school because of financial troubles.

H. W. Lautenbach of Salem, federal emergency school advisor for Columbiana county, announced details of the plan today whereby needy boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 25 may obtain federal aid so that they may attend school.

The plan is made possible through the government's National Youth Administration. Mr. Lautenbach said.

The government will pay these students for work up to $6 a month toward the expenses connected with attending school here or in any part of the county, he said.

The government is desirous of helping the needy students in school, and therefore is offering financial aid.

Application blanks are available at the offices of either Supt. Earl S. Kerr or Principal Wilbur J. Springer in Salem High school.

OPEN PROBE IN PLANE CRASHES

2 Mishaps In West Claim 14 Lives; Third Craft Missing

(By Associated Press)

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 8.—Investigators searched the wreckage of two airplanes today trying to learn why they crashed in the west with 14 deaths, and at the same time hope dwindled for the safety of three persons missing in a third ship since Sunday.

There was doubt that even the close inspection of the United States department of commerce would throw clear light upon the world of the accidents, the fall of a United Airlines passenger ship near here that killed 12.

The bodies apparently struck a hilltop and careened crazily for several hundred yards, scattering the bodies of its occupants over the rough terrain.

Coroner Paul Worland said a theory of the two pilots of the sleek twin-engine craft may have been overcome by carbon monoxide gas was not borne out by blood tests.

The other fatal accident at Lordsburg, N. M., brought flying death to Lieut. Col. J. E. Davis of San Diego, marine air force commander, and fatal burns to his mechanic, Sergeant O. M. Owens, also of San Diego.

Owens, who leaped from the plane, a living torso, just before it smashed into a railroad embankment after taking off at the local field, died several hours later in a hospital.

At Salt Lake City the search continued for the missing "Luxury" plane of the Standard Oil Co., unreported since Sunday.

RELIEF BONDS BALLOT NOV. 5 IS ABANDONED

Commissioners Reach Decision At Conference Today

ISSUE DEFEATED IN AUGUST VOTE

Question of Relief Is Left Up To Local Communities

LINCOLN, Oct. 8.—Columbiana county commissioners, conferring here today, decided to abandon plans for a proposed $125,000 relief bond issue on the ballots at the Nov. 5 election.

Commissioners Conrad Berg and Frank Austin were present. Commissioner Austin Getz was unable to attend because of illness. Prosecutors George Lafferty, John Irwin and Treasurer John Irwin attended the conference.

The bond issue was submitted to the electorate of Columbiana in August, but was defeated by a decisive margin.

In view of this fact the commissioners did not hold much hope for its passage in November, although in the last few days several conferences have been held to discuss the advisability of calling another vote on the issue.

The fact that the issue was voted down last time, the question of relief up to local communities, as the government has ordered several months ago.

ALLEN TO MAKE DEBUT ON STAGE

Salem Boy Opens 10-Week Tour In "Romeo and Juliet" At Baltimore This Week

Leaving Salem last spring to seek a stage career, Albert Allen, son of Mrs. Edna Culver, already has been given a chance to make good.

Yesterday he left New York with the Adriatic line company, which has given him a five months' contract, to open an engagement of "Romeo and Juliet" at the Lyric theater in Baltimore. There will be rehearsal for three days and the play will open Thursday.

The Salem boy will make his debut on his 21st birthday. The troupe is on a 10-weeks tour, being booked for Washington following Baltimore.

Other eastern cities before jumping to Chicago. It will work south as far as New Orleans and possibly may appear in Columbus.

Allen will return to New York with his company about Christmas time and he expects to have a part in "St. Joan," which Miss Cornell will present after returning from the present tour.

Allen is a nephew of Mrs. I. G. Harris of East State st.

MRS. STOLL ON STAND IN TRIAL

Defends Mrs. Robinson Whom She Says Saved Her Life

(By Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, cross examined by defense counsel today at the trial of Mrs. Frances A. Robinson and Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., on kidnapping charges, admitted that she had told federal agents Mrs. Robinson "saved my life."

The Louisville society belle, for whose $50,000 kidnapping a year ago, Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., is being hunted by federal agents, made the remark after the automobile in which she was returning with Mrs. Robinson to Louisville. The wife and father-in-law of Robinson, Jr., are being tried for complicity in the kidnapping in federal district court here.

After saying she could not remember the remark Mrs. Stoll said, "I believe I did say something like that." She said she told the federal agents this out of "gratitude." Under questioning of Defense Attorney Jack Norman she said that her "gratitude" for Mrs. Robinson was only because she was not required to remain alone in the closet where she allegedly was held; apartment owned by Robinson, Jr., after the kidnapping.

ITALIAN ENVOYS BANNED

British Ship, with 2000 Troops, Heads Into Mediterranean

(By Associated Press)

Emperor Haile Selassie, amassing 750,000 tribal warriors in the field to maintain Ethiopia's independence from Mussolini's fascists, asked the Italian minister today to leave Addis Ababa immediately with his entire staff.

This information was conveyed to the League of Nations by Teclé Hawariate, the Ethiopian delegate. The Italian legation's radio station, the delegate reported, was being used to create internal disorders.

"The legation," Hawariate said, "is the center of espionage, intrigue and plots against Ethiopia."

League Notified

The league also was notified of the action of the diplomatic corps at Addis Ababa asking II Duce to refrain from aerial attacks on the capital and Deridawa, to the east. It will be forwarded to Rome through league channels.

All the diplomats in Addis Ababa, except the Italian minister, joined in the appeal.

As the league—after declaring the Italian fascist government an outlaw among nations—considered the nature of sanctions to be imposed, it was disclosed in Geneva some powers wished to give Great Britain a mandate to supervise such sanctions.

Shortly afterward, word came of the passage through the Strait of Gibraltar, bound east in the Mediterranean, of the British liner Arcton, with 2,000 troops.

The first battalion of the Manchester regiment is bound from the West Indies in Egypt.

For days, in anticipation of any emergency that may arise from the imposition of sanctions, Britain has been strengthening its forces along this "life line of the empire."

Doubt in London

Some doubt has arisen in London as to the extent of aid England may expect from France in the event of such an emergency. While France's note of yesterday gave a general pledge of assistance, based on the condition of reciprocity, if Britain was attacked by sea, air or land, London desired a more specific declaration of what help France would give.

However, it was felt in London that France's support of the council's action in ordering sanctions against Italy made it mandatory for France to support the Mediterranean emergency—such as an Italian attack on the British fleet to break a possible blockade.

Premier Pierre Laval, of France, was described by official Paris sources as still seeking mild sanctions, desirous of avoiding any of a stringent or military nature.

With sanctions discussed in every European capital, the Greek government—which declared a prohibition on the export of foodstuffs—announced it would stand with other signatories of the Balkan pact in support of sanctions.

OLD FAITHFUL

If politicians were to choose the issue which has been most useful in the past and which promises to be most useful in the future, they probably would be unanimous in their choice of the high cost of living. It has been "old faithful" for so many years that it doesn't even need to be advertised.

Opponents of the Roosevelt administration, for example, do not need to explain what they mean when they view the high cost of living with alarm. Everybody who tries to support a family knows all about the high cost of living. Furthermore, everybody who is aware of the high cost of living automatically becomes resentful of it.

Back in 1920 the Republican party used popular resentment of high living costs to excellent advantage. The party platform for that year declared that the prime cause of the increase in prices had been a "50 percent" depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar, due to a gross expansion of currency and credit. Contributing causes were "reduced production, burdensome taxation, swollen profits, and the increased demand for goods arising from a fictitious but enlarged buying power" and also the "unsound policies" of the Democratic administration. It would not be surprising to see that plank erected in the Republican platform for 1936.

Assurance that the opposition will use the high cost of living as a campaign issue helps to explain why the Roosevelt administration is turning to the agricultural states for support. On his western trip, President Roosevelt pointed with pride to the increase in agricultural prices to which the rise in the price of food is largely due. Food prices, as every housewife knows, have risen most sharply. Prior to the new deal, however, it was food prices which fell most rapidly.

The high cost of living, of course, is not an issue which can be opened either fairly or logically. It is nearly always good political bait, however, because it is connected so closely with the pocketbook sensibilities of so many consumers. It is sure to be a potent factor in the election next year—as sure, at least, as the Democratic party's selection of the Hoover administration as the one and only cause of the depression.

CAN ITALY WIN?

Italy begins its undeclared war with Ethiopia as the heavy favorite on a basis of equipment. Curiously enough, however, it is considered in many quarters to have something less than an equal chance to carry off the campaign successfully.

It will not be fighting on equal terms. Its airplanes and tanks will not be pitted against Ethiopian airplanes and tanks, but against tribesmen who shoot and run and who don't need supply trains and military bases to make them effective.

Italy, to be successful, must bring its campaign to a speedy conclusion. It must establish its authority beyond question before the beginning of another rainy season next summer. As protracted war would be fatal not only to Italy but to the tradition of white supremacy which enables a few Caucasians to keep control over millions of Africans.

Great Britain, which is believed to be more fearful of the consequences of Italian failure in Ethiopia than of a conclusive victory, would seem to be forced to consider the campaign from two viewpoints, therefore. Now that Italy has started to fight, Britain's colonial interest in Africa would be served best by victory. On the other hand, British interest in Europe seems to require opposition to the demonstration of fascist strength which Premier Mussolini has undertaken.

In the meantime, the attention of the United States naturally will be directed more to the actual fighting in Africa than to the diplomatic maneuvering in Europe's capitals. War is always a great show, even though it be a ghastly one. Americans are frankly interested in the test of one of the world's best equipped military machines against a primitive population fighting to protect its land.

O. O. MCINTYRE
NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Fred Astaire has become the Cinderella boy of the amusement world. The ugly duckling who stepped out of the pumpkin a prince. People used to think he was merely basking in the reflected glory of his frisked and waspish sister Adele.

A nice boy, splendid foil and all that! Yet he has gone like a shot to his greatest successes since his talented sister married an English noble and the stage alliance was broken. Despite his stage achievements in New York and London, he was not made an over-night star by the movies.

His first part was a minor one and his billing was a scant mention of his name in: "The cast includes, etc." But he made a bit click and soon they had him signed on the dotted line. Today, with Ginger Rogers as his dancing partner, he is hanging up new box office records.

He is in mufti a country-looking boy, one who might be selling tickets at the depot. Yet he can wear a top hat, innervess and twirl a cane with Piccadilly polish few attain. And so effortless is his dancing he may be seen as star of an American ballet at the Metropolitan.

Mary Roberts Rinehart is to make New York her permanent home after a long residence in Washington. One of America's most beautiful authors wants to be near her sons and grandchildren. Her new domicile is a Park Avenue apartment which can be transformed into a single living room, perhaps the largest in town, more than 60 feet in length. This is achieved by opening folding doors and throwing living room, library, billiard room, etc. together. Mrs. Rinehart's new novel upon which she is now working is to be called "The Doctor." Her late husband was a physician.

Thingumabobs: The Billy Seemans have three old oaks transplanted to their Central Park West penthouse... King Leopold of Belgium subscribes to six American monthly magazines... He likes stories by Ernest Hemingway... Frank Sullivan finds Will Cuppy restful because Cuppy usually feels even worse than he does... Ellen Glasgow's most confidential friend is James Branch Cabell... The Prince of Wales speaks better French than most Frenchmen... Frank Craven began acting at five, his father, mother and grandparents on both sides were troupers.

Incidentally, I hear authoritatively that John La Gatta draws all his characters in the alto and then affixes their clothes. Also there is a manicure goddess who has such beautiful feet she is in constant demand to pose and receives the highest pay of all.

Joe Zelli has been unable somehow to duplicate his Paris success catering high jinks to New York stay-ups. He has made several starts, steeped in generous backing, but a rousing opening was followed by a quick closing. Although he employed his sure-fire formula for the favored—a sweeping bow, quick hand-clap and the whirl-about cry, "Royal box for the Prince!" But the magic had jelled since the days he lured the toiling martyrs up to his peak of Montmartre. But Zelli has tenacity and night clubbing is a tenacious trade. He may yet turn the trick.

The cob-webby attic and the guttering candle are no longer, by a long shot, a part of a writer's background. Today the most magnificent workrooms in New York are occupied by literary successes. Edna Ferber recently took over the Ivar Kreuger penthouse on Park Avenue. Kay Brush's Sutton Place studio in Urban decor is a model of elegance. Then there's Kathleen Norris's minaret near Palo Alto. Zane Grey's ocean-going yacht aboard which he turns out westerns. Michael Arlen has a schloss in the Austrian Tyrol. General Lew Wallace had a romantic tower in Indiana. Joseph Hergesheimer actually has a moated castle on a fashionable reach of Philadelphia. And, of course, there is E. Phillips Oppenheim's circular glass studio overlooking the blue of the Mediterranean.

Fun in the park: One of those soft-eyed russet brown setters near the Pulitzer statue entrance this evening was the target for the capers of a frisky wire-haired puppy. A living monument of patience, the bird dog stood immobile while the puppy nipped his flanks, chewed his ears and leaped all over him with a staccato of mad yips. Finally the noble elder, desperate, stretched on the ground, rolled on his back and let go a long moan. "That," called a seedy bench-sitter near-by, "is how I feel about things, too."

THE STARS SAY

For Wednesday, October 9

A day of great activity is presaged by the predominant planetary rulership. This influence accelerates business and all pertaining to publishing, publicity, newspapers and writings, but there is a menace of delays, postponements and obstructions. This may find its source in a low physical condition of self or associates. There may be gain through an elder, but also the loss of an elderly friend. Change is possible as well as travel.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively year, although beset by difficulties, delays, impediments and obstacles, possibly through illness of self or that of an elderly friend, whose loss may prove materially painful. This may involve change or a journey. Dealings with secret societies or combinations call for precaution, shrewdness or secret agreements.

A child born on this day may be versatile and talented, although disposed to shun the limelight. It would make a fine speaker or writer.

Faces Impeachment

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Disease of Blood
"PURPURA HEMORRHAGICA" is a big name given to a condition in which spots of blood appear in parts of the skin or mucous membrane. It is a rare disease and its nature used to be more or less of a mystery. Our knowledge of it has greatly increased and we may hope that eventually this ailment will be forgotten. Until that time it is important that the disease be recognized early.

Dr. Copeland

It may be a symptom of some internal disorder. Sometimes it comes on suddenly in an individual who otherwise is in good health. At first there may be noticed a readiness to bleed upon the slightest scratch or injury. Hemorrhages take place beneath the skin, producing many black and blue marks all over the body. These purplish spots may remain for several weeks or months.

Where It Occurs

The bleeding may occur in the mucous membrane or lining of the nose and mouth. Indeed, there may be a severe hemorrhage from this region. At times the bleeding may be in the lining of the stomach or intestinal canal. In such cases the sufferer complains of colicky pains and diarrhea. The stools are black because of the unabsorbed blood.

Sufferers from this disorder should undergo complete examination and microscopic study of the blood. The cells of the blood should be counted. The doctor must determine whether the bleeding is due to a deficiency of the clotting elements of the blood or because of a disturbance in the bone marrow where some of the cells are born.

Don't Confuse It

Do not confuse purpura hemorrhagica with "hemophilia." Hemophiles or "bleeders" are persons who bleed profusely from the slightest injury or bruise. The latter disease is an hereditary one transmitted through the maternal side of the family.

In these cases it is exceedingly difficult to control the hemorrhage and consequently a case of hemophilia may terminate fatally. The hemorrhage in purpura may be severe, but as a rule can be controlled by pressure or by the use of a special serum.

Sufferers from purpura and other forms of bleeding often are benefited by blood transfusions. In some instances "splenectomy" is advised; this is the name of an operation in which the spleen is removed. Unfortunately, this does not always bring about beneficial results. The operation is performed as a last resort.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. F. D. Q.—What would cause a clicking sound in the jaws on both sides? I have had this annoyance for ten years and it seems to be more annoying and louder as time goes on. I have been advised to see a specialist. What would you advise?

A.—Since this condition has persisted over such a long period it would be well to have an examination and expert advice.

Didn't Just Come In

Can you imagine Christopher Columbus hanging around the wharves of Genoa "waiting for his ship to come in"?

No. He was not that kind of man. He had courage and persistence to match his imagination. He had a big idea, but he was a long time "selling it" to Ferdinand and Isabella.

Then, on the voyage his men wanted to turn back. He forced them to sail on. The ships of Columbus were brought into port by the sheer force of a dauntless spirit.

Remember this fact when you are tempted to be discouraged in your own financial undertakings.

HOME MAKING HELPS

THE MOVEMENT for better housing marches on steadily to the goal of beauty, health, utility, easy construction and happy living. Hardly a day passes but what we learn of some new advance in the art and science of housing.

The latest is a "health house" which has been built under the guidance of a committee of doctors, psychiatrists, scientists and engineers, a group that was invited to build a house that would be all that its name implies, a house recently was completed and has just been shown to interested groups.

Most visitors expected, of course, to see something grim and forbidding that its name implies. The house was to be the embodiment of medical architecture that is architecture devoted to the scientific cultivation of health, rather than to the ideal of comfort. But to the surprise of the press as well as many doctors themselves, the grim health house turned out to be a lovely, quaint little white cottage nestled in gardens gay with rose bushes, with not even one little clinical thermometer to be seen anywhere inside or out, a regular little bride's cottage. Who ever thought that doctor's could be so sentimental? The cottage idea must have been contributed by the psychiatrists who are more interested in surroundings and their effect in human happiness and mental well-being, than in anything else.

Pleasingly Efficient But within the little white cottage all is efficient, not grimly but pleasantly efficient. Sound proofing is there, something that the doctors and psychiatrists advocated lights, all designed with the idea of being cleverly contrived skylights, all designed with the idea of making it possible to take sun-baths right in the home. Then there is an isolated room that can be used in case of contagious diseases, or for a highly nervous person. But better to contemplate its use as a guest room. The plumbing is a marvelous affair, far in advance of anything that has yet been attempted, for the system was designed by doctors as well as engineers. Of course, the building and the furnishings have been created with the thought of eliminating dust. All the colors used for decorating and furnishing have been selected so that they are easy on the nerves as well as on the eyes. There has been so much interest in this house that embodies the genius and science of doctors and psychiatrists as well as the expert services of other scientists and engineers that there is talk of duplicating the structure in various sections of the country so that all may see the first really scientific home.

WOMEN HAVE not waited for houses to become mechanized in order to become household engineers. The wise woman knows that she must possess a degree of science, of mechanics, of careful adherence to a schedule if her home is to run smoothly and efficiently. Just one instance can be noted. In the old days spring and fall housecleaning used to be regular plague periods. There was no place to sit, stand, eat or sleep in comfort.

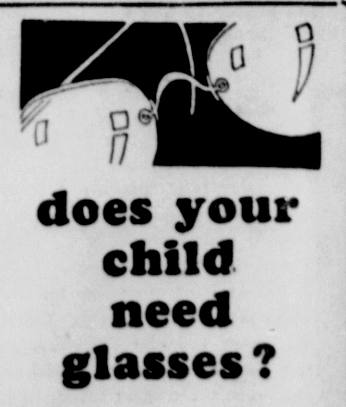

But no more. For today women run their homes more easily and scientifically—and far more hygienically. Thus the modern housewife, like the best business executive, is not the one that works the hardest. Rather, she wisely uses system in her home, in the running of it and the planning of all tasks.

Adhere to Schedule It is a good plan to make a list of all the materials necessary in the daily and periodic cleaning activities. Thus, the necessary equipment is always at hand when the time arrives for some appointed task. Decide what tasks are to be tackled each day, week, month and year, and, as far as possible, adhere to that schedule.

Of course, unforeseen happenings are likely to occur and upset that plan somewhat. But stick to it as close as possible and have a strict time for the necessary daily tasks such as bed making, dusting and running over the floors with a dustless mop. As for the rugs, twice a week is all that should be necessary for a going over with the vacuum, unless, of course, there is a party, or when there are holidays.

Get the utmost out of your vacuum cleaner. Use the attachments for cleaning upholstery and draperies. Also invest in an upholstery brush for the furniture. There are special cleaning fluids for restoring the color to faded upholstery. You merely go over the surface lightly with a sponge or cloth. The cleaning fluid should not be used more than once a month unless soil or spots appear.

Send 15c today for pattern X2507 to The Salem News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York, N. Y.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeanette Young Norton

THERE'S NOTHING like having a few cans of good crabmeat on the pantry shelves, both for emergency purposes as well as for dainty dishes for the family.

Choose a brand whose packer is generous enough to put in plenty of crab legs in each tin. Don't buy bargain brands. Stick to something recommended by your grocer. Use plenty of crabmeat for it is health-giving as well as most tasty.

Open a can and serve a crabmeat cocktail as a prelude to Sunday dinner. Cream and bake crabmeat in individual ramekins sprinkled with grated parmesan cheese and a dash of paprika, garnished with lemon juice. Serve crabmeat sprinkled with lemon juice between slices of whole wheat bread, as a tasty and nourishing sandwich. Or use it to vary a fresh green salad.

Used With Tomatoes

A nice dish is made with a can of crabmeat, six whole tomatoes, salt, pepper, quartered lemons and parsley. Place the tomatoes in boiling water for 15 seconds, then cool immediately and remove the skins. Cut a hole in the tops, about the size of a quarter-dollar, scoop out and season the insides of the tomatoes with salt and pepper. Then fill the tomatoes with crabmeat and bake in oven for ten minutes. Serve on platters, garnished with quartered lemons and parsley.

Curried crabmeat makes a delicious luncheon or supper dish. Cut contents of one can of crabmeat into small pieces, put in a frying pan a piece of butter about the size of an egg, one teaspoon chopped onion or shallot, and fry until a golden brown. Add a heaping teaspoon of flour and a scant teaspoon of curry powder, and stir into the butter and onion until thoroughly mixed. Add one cup hot soup stock and one cup of cream, and boil for three minutes. Then add the crabmeat (one can) and simmer slowly for about five minutes. Serve with steamed rice.

Crabmeat Suzette For crabmeat suzette bake four good-sized potatoes and cut off one side, like the cover of a box. Scoop out the potato with a spoon and fill with the meat of one can of crab prepared in cream. Sprinkle some grated parmesan or Swiss cheese on top and bake in oven until brown. Serve on napkins, garnished with parsley in branches and quartered lemons.

If you wish to prepare a crab salad to serve eight combine one pint of crabmeat with one minced cucumber, one cup of minced celery.

Bus Boy Arrested In Mae West Plot

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—Authorities released four men—but held a fifth—after questioning them several hours today about an asserted $1,000 extortion plot aimed at blonde Mae West of the movies.

The four, whose names never were released by police, explained satisfactorily their presence near a designated "pay-off" spot in the heart of Hollywood where George Janios, 38, was arrested last night.

Janios, swarthy bus boy in the Fox studio restaurant, denied repeatedly he was involved in the plot, which Tom Cavett, investigator for the district attorney, said threatened death or disfigurement to the star of several "Gay Nineties" films.

Janios was booked, however, on a charge of suspicion of extortion and held for continued questioning.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Wheat prices broke more than a cent a bushel weakness of the Liverpool market.

Reports of rainfall in northern Arlitical developments gave the market a nervous tone.

Identifies "Goldie"

Adolph Fiedler

Adolph Fiedler, above, 515-pound former St. Louis deputy, proved a telling witness for the prosecution when he identified Mrs. Nellie Muench, kidnapping suspect, as the "Goldie" involved in the case. Mrs. Muench went on trial at Mexico, Mo., charged with complicity in the abduction of Dr. Isaac Kelley, prominent St.
Louis physician.

Miners Resume Work

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 8.—Nine hundred miners in the big Nema-colin "captive" mine returned to work today under a union wage and hour agreement.
The mine is owned by the Buckeye Coal company, subsidiary of the Youngstown Steel and Tube Co. It had been closed since the general strike.

appointment of Capt. J. V. Hogan of

Home Safety Goal In Red Cross Drive

On October 1 the Red Cross launched a nation-wide program, permanent in character, to eliminate accident hazards in the homes of America. Salem chapter is playing a definite part. Its aim is to make the homes of this community safer, and to awaken local people to the fact that the home is far from a safe place to be.
Last year there was a total of 36,000 deaths from automobile accidents and a total of 34,500 deaths the result of accidents in the home.
Almost as many met death in homes from the results of accidents as on the highway. Home accidents permanently crippled 50,000 more than did automobile accidents.
This is why the Red Cross feels there is a definite need for service in the field of home accident prevention and through their 13,000 chapters can not help but lessen some of these accidents by causing the people in the homes of America to be accident conscious rather than safety conscious.
More than twice as many people die as the result of accidents in the home than from industrial and employment accidents combined.
The national Red Cross is cooperating with every organization now active in the home accident prevention field, particularly with the National Safety Council whose findings were made available to the Red Cross.

Worah Warns Again U. S. Entanglements

MOISE, Idaho, Dec. 8.—A warning against the danger of the United States becoming involved in another European war, should the Italo-Ethiopian conflict spread to include other European nations, was voiced last night by Senator
William E. Borah.
The Idaho senator declared it would be "vain to prophesy" how long the war can be kept localized.

Given Safe Passage

Count Luigi Vinci Gigliucci, Italian Minister to Ethiopia, was handed his passports and left Addis Ababa on special train for Djibouti.

Theater Attractions

Bette Davis and George Brent in "Special Agent" to be shown at the State theater tonight and tomorrow.

The American people are at last conscious and informed of the inner workings of government departments, particularly of its law enforcement branches. Two major accomplishments have helped change the attitude toward federal enforcement agencies.
The first was the destruction by "G" men of gang rulers who could not be reached through criminal prosecution. The other was trapping the real "big shots," whose cleverness left no tell-tale evidence on which to convict them in the courts.
The story of the government's campaign to destroy these crooks is told in "Special Agent," to be shown tonight and tomorrow at the State theater.

The income that flows into the coffers of the big racketeers are fruits of bootlegging, vice privileges and murder. They hide their money in banks, in safety deposit vaults and in all kinds of dummy accounts.
To trace it is quite a task. The young operatives who gather the evidence for the government work against dangerous odds.

In "Special Agent," George Brent plays the part of a newspaper reporter who becomes a special agent when he realizes the futility of bringing the cold-blooded gangsters to justice on direct evidence of their crimes.

He is aided by the confidential secretary of one of the racketeers.
This role is played by Bette Davis, who has taken the job in desperation rather than starve, and who does not dare to quit when she finds out the truth about her employer.

Ricardo Cortez portrays the gangster for whom Miss Davis works.

Hints On Health By Red Cross

Where do you drive in a three or four lane road? If you are a habitual center lane driver, break the habit. One of the reasons for building roads with more than two lanes was to make them safe.
But they are no safer than any other road if the motorists use only the center lanes. Every time you are passed on the right you should realize that you are driving your car where it does not belong.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads.
will tell you where.

"Camels don't get your Wind"

SAY THE DETROIT TIGERS 1935 WORLD CHAMPIONS

Here's the line-up on the smoking preference of the new world champions:

19 OUT OF 22 OF THE TIGERS SMOKE CAMELS

THE TIGERS "BIG FOUR" PITCHERS

ELDEN AUER (left), SCHOOLBOY ROWE (next to Elden), ALVIN CROWDER (next to Schoolboy) agree with TOMMY BRIDGES (right), who says: "I smoke Camels because I can smoke as many as I like. Camels don't affect my wind or give me jumpy nerves."

Today Detroit glories in its first World Championship! These 1935 Tigers have punched out a story of courage and energy that stands among the masterpieces. They could "take it"! What do the Tigers say about smoking? Here's Mickey Cochrane, dynamic Tiger manager: "One thing the team agree on is their choice of cigarettes—Camels. 19 of the 22 regulars smoke Camels. The Tigers say they can smoke all they want because Camels are so mild that they don't get their wind or upset their nerves." How about taste? Jo-Jo Whitesays: "Camels always taste better." You'll like Camel's mildness too. Camels never upset your nerves or tire your taste.

PETE FOX (below): "Camels don't get my wind. That proves how mild Camels are."

BILL ROGELL (right): "Camels never jangle my nerves, and I smoke all I want. Camels taste better too."

DETROIT WALKS OFF WITH BASEBALL'S BEST GIRL!

OWEN! "I light up a Camel to refresh my energy," says Marvin (left).

GERALD WALKER (right) comments: "Camels make such a mild, tasty smoke."

Here's GOSLIN (above): Says "the Goose": "I switched to Camels long ago. Camels are milder."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

I ALSO THINK THAT CAMELS ARE MILD... BETTER FOR STEADY SMOKING

Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos... Turkish and Domestic... than any other popular brand.
